845 - 1000	Open Discussion: Committee Update, Safety Issues, Regulatory Notices -Discussion covered updates on FMCSA. Their new server is up and running, the deadline for compliance is supposedly December of 2017. Rig Moving truck devices must be able to communicate with this server. -Generally, people that pull you over regarding this are not trained on the issue, additionally there's no training in place. -Separately, you're supposed to report failed drug test. FMCSA is expected to mandate this soon. Talks then shifted to recent safety incidents. One incident featured a guy riding on the side of a front end loader who got injured. A truck pusher also got hit in the head while trying to level the pits. Overloading rigging is also a problem...as it will eventually break, it's just a bad practice. Crane operators and incompetence are still a HUGE problem in regard to this. Talks then shifted to night moves in rig moving. A subcommittee was formed instead of task group in order to address night moves.
